Degree Offered: BA

This interdisciplinary major enables students to compare medieval cultures, noting both their differences and their common traditions, in the period between 500 and 1500 AD. The program combines a broad background in various aspects of medieval culture with more specialized study in a selected field. These fields of emphasis include medieval art history, history, literature (Arabic, Chinese, German, Italian, English, French, or Latin), music, philosophy, or religion.

Degree Requirements for BA in Medieval Studies

For general university requirements, see Graduation Requirements in this publication. Students majoring in medieval studies must complete at least 30 semester hours (10 courses); the minimum for double majors is 24 hours. All majors must complete five of these medieval studies courses at the 300 or 400 level.

Required and recommended courses include the following:

A minimum of 30 semester hours (10 semester courses), of which at least five courses must be at the 300/400 level. Double majors must complete a minimum of 24 semester hours.

One course in medieval literature; one course in medieval art or medieval music: one course in medieval history or philosophy.

It is recommended, but not required, that students take two semesters at the college level in an appropriate language (or languages), in particular, Latin. Three courses (at least two at the 300 or 400 level) in the student’s chosen field of emphasis—one of these may be a directed reading course.

For single majors, three additional courses in the medieval period, one of which may be a senior thesis (one semester) on a topic in the student’s field of emphasis; for double majors, one additional course in the medieval period.

Students work out their programs of study in consultation with the program director. Those contemplating graduate work in medieval studies should study at least one foreign language in some depth (as most graduate schools require a reading knowledge of French and German for the PhD).

Students may select from among the following to fulfill the course requirements for the major in medieval studies.
