For questions regarding a specific instance of ENGL 397, LALX 238, PHIL 470, RELI 238, SWGS 238, or SWGS 477, consult the Center for the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality (CSWGS) Director of Undergraduate Studies or the Center's Director.

Policies for the BA Degree with a Major in the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality

Program Restrictions and Exclusions

Students pursuing the major in the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality should be aware of the following program restriction:

- As noted in Majors, Minors, and Certificates (<https://ga.rice.edu/undergraduate-students/academic-opportunities/majors-minors-certificates/>), students may not major and minor in the same subject.

Transfer Credit

For Rice University's policy regarding transfer credit, see Transfer Credit (<https://ga.rice.edu/undergraduate-students/academic-policies-procedures/transfer-credit/>). Some departments and programs have additional restrictions on transfer credit. Requests for transfer credit must be approved for Rice equivalency by the designated transfer credit advisor for the appropriate academic department offering the Rice equivalent course (corresponding to the subject code of the course content). The Office of Academic Advising maintains the university's official list of transfer credit advisors (<https://oaa.rice.edu/advising-network/transfer-credit-advisors/>) on their website: <https://oaa.rice.edu>. Students are encouraged to meet with the applicable transfer credit advisor as well as their academic program director when considering transfer credit possibilities.

Departmental Transfer Credit Guidelines

Students pursuing the major in the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality should be aware of the following departmental transfer credit guidelines:

- No more than 2 courses (6 credit hours) of transfer credit from U.S. or international universities of similar standing as Rice may apply towards the major.
- Courses taken at another university must be equivalent in required reading, writing, research, and testing, as well as classroom hours, of a Rice course. Regarding subject matter, however, there does not have to be an equivalent course in the Rice course offerings, unless the student requires distribution credit.
- Rice students planning to study at a foreign university must also obtain pre-approval from the Rice Study Abroad Office.
- Transfer credit received via the articulation of approved exam credit, such as Advanced Placement (AP) credit, International Baccalaureate (IB) credit, or A-level credit will not be considered towards major requirements.

Distribution Credit Information

The determination of distribution credit eligibility is done initially as part of the new course creation process (<https://registrar.rice.edu/facstaff/courseprocess/>). Additionally, as part of an annual roll call (https://registrar.rice.edu/facstaff/distribution_credit/) coordinated each Spring by the Office of the Registrar, course distribution credit eligibility is routinely reviewed and reaffirmed by the Dean's Offices of each of the academic schools.

Faculty and leadership in the academic schools are responsible for ensuring that the courses identified as distribution-credit-eligible meet the criteria as set in the General Announcements (https://ga.rice.edu/undergraduate-students/academic-policies-procedures/graduation- requirements/#text). Students are responsible for ensuring that they meet graduation requirements (<https://ga.rice.edu/undergraduate-students/academic-policies-procedures/graduation-requirements/#text>) by completing coursework designated as distribution-credit-eligible at the time of course registration.

Distribution courses from the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality (SWGS) are broad in theme and scope and prompt students to probe knowledge about how gender and sexuality are crucial components of political life, social life, and general well-being. They involve a broad, interdisciplinary spectrum of such knowledge and provide students with the tools for thinking critically about formations of gender and sexuality in diverse contexts. Current SWGS DI courses are our core courses that are 100- and 200-level introductions to the study of women, gender, and sexuality. (Courses that originate in other departments and, whether formally cross-listed or not, fulfill SWGS requirements may or may not be distribution courses. Please check the course description.)

Senior Thesis

Students complete the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality senior thesis under the guidance of a faculty mentor. Students should confirm their eligibility with the CSWGS Director of Undergraduate Studies (major advisor) in the spring of their junior year.

Requirements for admission to the program are:

- a major in SWGS
- a cumulative Rice GPA at the end of the junior year of at least 3.00
- a SWGS major GPA of at least 3.50
- approval of proposal by CSWGS Director of Undergraduate Studies

The process of preparing the thesis begins in the spring of the junior year, when the student works with the Center for the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality (CSWGS) Director of Undergraduate Studies and chooses a faculty mentor from the faculty affiliated with CSWGS. With guidance from those two faculty, the student produces a proposal. The proposal must be approved by the Center for the Study of Women, Gender, and Sexuality (CSWGS) Director of Undergraduate Studies by the last day of the exam period in the spring of the junior year.

In the fall of the senior year, the student enrolls in SWGS 498 to work with that instructor and also consults regularly with their faculty mentor. In the spring of the senior year, the student enrolls in SWGS 499 and continues to work closely with that instructor and their faculty mentor as they complete the thesis. The student presents their project in a public event at the end of the semester.

The length and content of the thesis are to be coordinated with the student's instructor and faculty mentor. Generally, senior theses are 40-50 double-spaced pages in length. The bibliography and theoretical approach must demonstrate an informed engagement with feminist, gender, and sexuality studies.

It is useful for the student, instructor, and faculty mentor to develop a project timeline that includes deadlines for various components of the work. Students wishing to undertake a thesis combining SWGS with another discipline or department at Rice select one primary instructional home for the thesis (SWGS, or ANTH, ECON, HIST, PSYC, etc.) and work with an advisor in both CSWGS and that location to create a thesis that draws on both in terms of content, method, and theoretical orientation. The thesis may receive academic credit in only one instructional location.

Seminar and Practicum in Engaged Research

The Seminar and Practicum in Engaged Research courses (SWGS 494, SWGS 496, and SWGS 497) are open to non-majors. Some background in the study of women, gender, or sexuality, as well as permission of the instructor, is required.
