The mission of the Program in Writing and Communication (PWC) is to integrate the practice of analytical writing and the techniques of both oral and visual communication into the Rice curriculum, with two goals in mind: To enable our students to articulate their ideas as we prepare them for academic and professional life; and to affirm the necessity of communication and its fundamental value to every aspect of their education and across every University department and discipline.

The PWC provides oversight for the First-Year Writing-Intensive Seminars (FWIS). FWIS are content-based, 3-credit hour seminars in which writing and communication pedagogy plays a significant role in assignments and grading. The courses reflect a range of disciplines from across the university. In addition, PWC faculty teach undergraduate communication courses and courses for international graduate students under the COMM designation and subject code.

The PWC also includes the Center for Academic and Professional Communication. Housed in Fondren Library, the Center supports teaching and learning through workshops, consulting, and coaching for undergraduate and graduate students and faculty. Headed by a team of communication professionals, the Center also includes a large staff of writing and communication consultants, both graduate and undergraduate, who are available for individual tutoring appointments. The Center houses facilities for one-on-one consultations and group work on written, oral, and visual projects. Physically accessible whenever Fondren Library is open, the Center is virtually accessible around the clock through the Center’s website (https://pwc.rice.edu/center-academic-and-professional-communication/).

For additional information regarding the Program in Writing and Communication, please see the program's website at: https://pwc.rice.edu/.

To satisfy the writing and communication graduation requirement, all undergraduate students must complete the following items during their first year at Rice:

1. First-Year Writing Assessment. Students will receive a placement for either one or two semesters of FWIS. Students who receive the two-semester placement must complete the FWIS 100 Introduction to Academic Writing course prior to enrolling in FWIS 101-299.
2. First-Year Writing-Intensive Seminar. Students must complete a FWIS course numbered 101-299 or be granted transfer credit as outlined in the Graduation Requirements (https://ga.rice.edu/undergraduate-students/academic-policies-procedures/graduation-requirements/) section of the General Announcements. (100-level numbers indicate courses taught in the fall; 200-level numbers indicate courses taught in the spring.)

For courses that satisfy the First-Year Writing-Intensive Seminar University Graduation Requirement (https://ga.rice.edu/undergraduate-students/academic-policies-procedures/graduation-requirements/), please see Rice's Course Catalog (https://courses.rice.edu).

The Program in Writing and Communication does not currently offer an academic program at the graduate level.
